LIBERALS LEAVE FOR OTTAWA

Off to Ottawa and the Federal Liberal party convention being held there Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, go three Penticton delegates. They are, from left, Mrs. Tony Lloyd, Bruce Howard and Tony Lloyd, president of the B.C. Young Liberal Association. One of the big items of business at the convention will be the choosing of a new leader for the national Liberal party.

Third U.S. Officer Joins Revolt of Generals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Air Force's missile chief says President Eisenhower's plan for a unified American space agency would waste fully duplicate air force capabilities already in existence.

Maj.-Gen. Bernard A. Schriever adds that the air force is ready to undertake at a relatively early date "such space-age projects as unmanned reconnaissance trips to the moon, Mars, and Venus."

Schriever's opposition to Eisenhower's space program, in testimony before the Senate preparedness subcommittee, was labelled today as "unfortunate" by a Republican member of the subcommittee, Senator Ralph Flanders of Vermont.

Schriever's testimony was given behind closed doors Thursday, the day Eisenhower informed Congress that "all the anti-missile and satellite technology undertaken within the department of defence" would be concentrated in the new advanced research projects agency.

The testimony of Schriever was released Friday night by the air force.

THIRD IN 'REVOLT'

Schriever thus became the third high American military officer to criticize administration defence planning this week in what some have tagged "the revolt of the generals."

In an interview, Flanders said: "It seems the president showed leadership in straightening out the armed forces, and if his first move is publicly condemned, by one of the services I think that is unfortunate."

Other senators, however, said Schriever was just being frank and airing a serious disagreement.

Airman Ready For Seven Day Space Living

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A suit of underwear, a flight suit, testing apparatus and a pencil will be airman Donald G. Farrell's only companions for seven days.

He won't be able to bathe, shave, change clothing, or hardly move during his voluntary period of exile. He'll sleep in an upright position.

Farrell will be "living in space" for the most prolonged period on record. His home for a week will be a pressurized space flight chamber, smaller than a wall closet, at the School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph air force base here.

The test, originally scheduled to begin this week, was postponed until Feb. 15 to allow replacement of certain parts in the space chamber. But the date may be moved again, as Washington has asked that the experiment be stepped up.

Ike Holds Summit Session Door Open

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is expected to send Premier Bulganin a message this weekend holding open the door to an eventual summit conference but rejecting the Russian leader's bid for such a session within three months.

Eisenhower's reply has been coordinated with those going from the government chiefs of Britain, France and other Allied powers in response to a series of notes Bulganin sent free-world leaders in December. It is understood the replies also will cover the substance of new Bulganin messages to NATO leaders and heads of many other governments this week.

State Secretary Dulles gave the guidelines of United States policy at a press conference Friday. He said no summit meeting should be held — as Bulganin proposed Thursday — within two or three months. But he left open the possibility of some future top-level session provided "there is adequate preparation for it and a reasonable assurance that it will accomplish some desirable result."

Dulles denounced Bulganin's Thursday message as a propaganda move designed to steal world attention from Eisenhower's state of the union message that same day. Dulles deplored such use of "the channels of communication between heads of government."

Ministers' Session Urged By Macmillan

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain told a press conference here today that a foreign ministers' conference should precede any East-West summit talks.

Macmillan, on the last day of a four-day visit to India, said there must be full diplomatic preparation for such a foreign ministers' conference.

He was commenting on Russia's announcement, contained in letters sent two days ago to Western heads of government by Premier Bulganin, that it proposes to call a conference of Eastern and Western heads of government within the next two or three months to consider a series of definite proposals for easing world tension.

Macmillan today stressed his conception of a nonaggression pact as only the beginning of an over-all settlement between Russia and the West.

He indicated his preference for a small summit conference which would be likely to get down to business rather than a large "specifying conference."

Referring to the latest Soviet proposal, he said "the summit seems to have become a sort of mountain range with peaks standing out all along."

Romania Elects New Red Leader

VIENNA (Reuters) — Romania's National Assembly today elected as the country's new president Ion Gheorghe Maurer, a Communist leader recently in official disfavour and returned to the leadership only six months ago.

Maurer, foreign minister since July, succeeds President Petru Groza, who died four days ago at the age of 72 and was buried in Bucharest Friday with full military honours.

Bucharest radio said Maurer was nominated by Romanian Communist party chief Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej at a special session of the assembly.

Maurer, of German origin, held various ministerial posts in post-war Communist governments, but fell into disfavour when he was suspected of being a close friend of the ex-minister of justice, Lucian Patrascanu, executed in 1955.

Last summer he reappeared in public life with his appointment as foreign minister on July 14.

JUST A TELEPRINTER

Mysterious Beeps Picked Up in Space

LONDON (AP) — Mysterious "beeps" were picked up by radio monitors in Europe and North America today, but official radio engineers in Britain and Sweden traced the strange sounds to an idling Soviet teleprinter after a flurry of exciting speculation that the Russians might have launched a third Sputnik.

Foreign Communist correspondents in Moscow have been predicting that the Russians intend to launch another artificial earth satellite this month.

But a Swedish government radio engineer said the signals heard for a few hours this morning had been definitely traced to a "typical Russian frequency-shift teleprinter transmitter."

A senior engineer at the BBC's listening station here said that what it sounded like to him, too.

An engineer explained that when a teleprinter on a radio beam is still on the air but not transmitting messages you sometimes get signals which could sound like "beeps" or "beeps."

Yuri Modin, first secretary at the Soviet Embassy in London, said: "We have received no news of the launching of any space rocket or satellite yesterday or today."

The BBC engineers started listening intently after receiving reports from Finland and the United States that radio amateurs were picking up strange sounds.

"There might be a new Soviet earth satellite aloft, or Sputnik No. 2 might have resumed sending signals," a BBC spokesman said, "but at this stage it seems more likely that we are picking up some commercial operator who hopes to get an answer from someone. That would account for the strength of the signals."

BBC listeners started listening at 20,005 megacycles, which had been used by the original Soviet satellite, "but we got nothing until we fiddled around to 20,025 megacycles," a spokesman said.

Suspend Pupil for Pushing Negro Girl

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A white girl student reported Friday that she was suspended from Central High School because she pushed a Negro girl who got in her way in a corridor.

Darlene Holloway, 17-year-old junior, told her mother that principal Jess Matthews suspended her immediately after the incident but did not suspend the Negro girl.

Efforts to reach school officials for comment were unsuccessful.

Mrs. Gist said she thought the Negro student also should have been suspended.

Nine Negro students attend classes at Central High with Negroes have been under protection of federal troops since Sept. 25, the day after President Eisenhower sent 1,000 paratroopers to Little Rock to enforce a court order for integration of the big school.

Mrs. Fred Gist, mother of Darlene Holloway, said today "there would have been nothing to it if Elizabeth Eckford had not started to hit Darlene." She said her daughter had identified the Negro girl as Elizabeth Eckford.

Demonstrators Demand End of Dictatorship

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Demonstrators in downtown Caracas last night demanded "an end to the dictatorship" as President Marcos Perez Jimenez sought to mollify the Vatican by freeing five jailed priests.

Police moved in with tear gas and mace as several hundred shouting demonstrators milled about the heart of the capital. Some of the group handed out leaflets calling for freedom for political prisoners.

Authorities finally broke up the demonstration and arrested about two dozen persons. No injuries were reported.

Pearson Urges Negotiations Before Talks

NEW YORK (CP) Lester B. Pearson tonight called on the West to seek "serious and thorough" diplomatic negotiations with Russia on East-West problems.

Canada's former external affairs minister, discounting the value of an early summit conference urged discussions among diplomats to take up one by one the problems "that could destroy us all."

Tariffs Filed by Railways

MONTREAL — Tariffs have been filed by United States and Canadian railways with the interstate commerce commission and the board of transport commissioners for Canada providing for increase in rates and charges in freight moving between points in the United States and Canada, which are scheduled to become effective Feb. 1.

IN EXILE

The increases generally range from one per cent to eight per cent with 10 per cent on a few commodities. There are also some flat increases in cents per 100 pounds or per ton. Not all commodities will be subject to the proposed increases. In addition to the proposed freight rate increases, charges are being instituted for certain accessory services.

The railways said that shippers may obtain more detailed information by reference to the tariffs which have been filed, or by consulting traffic officers of the Canadian railways at principal centres.

TODAY'S BULLETINS

Commons to Adjourn for Convention

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons today agreed to adjourn for part of next week's Liberal leadership convention here. A motion to this effect by Prime Minister Diefenbaker was accepted by all parties. The convention opens Tuesday and runs through Thursday to pick a successor to retiring Louis St. Laurent.

No Decision Made on Road Route

OTTAWA (CP) — No decision has yet been reached on the route of the 250-mile Stewart-Cassiar road in north-central British Columbia. Resources Minister Hamlin said today in the Commons. Replying to Frank Howard CCF-Skeena and Jean Lesage, former Liberal resources minister, he said he had a discussion here Friday with B.C. Mines Minister Kiernan.

Oil Dumping to be Investigated

OTTAWA (CP) — CCF leader Coldwell today described department is investigating allegations that Venezuelan oil is being dumped in Canada. Replying in the Commons to CCF Leader Coldwell, he said oil for refining purposes is allowed into Canada duty-free. But it was subject to special dumping duties if it was found to come under that classification. There had been allegations that Venezuela oil was in that category and these now were being investigated.

Doukhobors Leave for Moscow

MONTREAL (CP) — Four Sons of Freedom Doukhobor leaders prepared today to fly to Moscow to seek land in the Soviet Union for their sect. The four, who claim to represent 2,500 new site, because the sect cannot live as it wishes in B.C. "We want some place in the virgin interior," said Bill Mojelsky, 45, of Nelson, B.C.

Obsessed With Need for Dams

OTTAWA (CP) — James Sinclair, former Liberal fisheries minister, today invited Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton to stay out of the Fraser River fish-versus-power controversy.

He said in the Commons during debate on the fisheries department estimates that Gen. McNaughton, chairman of the Canadian section of the international joint commission, is obsessed with the need for power in British Columbia.

But, Mr. Sinclair added, the general is "remarkably blind" to scientific studies concerning the problems of getting salmon over or around power dams.

He said he wanted to remind Gen. McNaughton that B.C.'s Fraser River lies entirely within Canada and therefore does not come within the jurisdiction of the commission.

Gen. McNaughton recently advocated before the Commons external affairs committee an immediate start on power dams on the Fraser. He said Vancouver, by paying high electricity rates, is subsidizing the B.C. salmon industry.

Mr. Sinclair said he believes there should be both fish and power on the Fraser. But no satisfactory way had yet been found to move salmon over power dams.

Gen. McNaughton had only to look at the American section of the Columbia River to see that power dams had destroyed the salmon industry in that stream.

Liberal government policy had been to see that all non-salmon streams be first for power development. After that, a careful study should be made of the relative economic costs of other sources of power besides the Fraser, such as steam or atomic plants.

A. B. Patterson (SC — Fraser Valley) said the fish and power interests should get together to determine whether there can be both fish and power on the Fraser. Contrary views must be resolved in light of the importance of both fish and power.

Cannery, Mill Forecast for Kelowna Area

KELOWNA (CP) — Industrial expansion for Kelowna is forecast by C. D. Gaddes, retiring president of the city's board of trade.

Addressing the board's annual meeting Friday night, Mr. Gaddes predicted establishment of a large cannery company and a pulp mill in Kelowna and said the city's future looks brighter than ever. He said the cannery would "employ hundreds of people."

Mr. Gaddes suggested that a portion of the residential area near the business section be rezoned for commercial business.

H. S. Harrison Smith succeeded Mr. Gaddes as board president.

Province Goes Up to 10 Cents

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Vancouver Province announces in a front-page story that it will cost 10 cents a copy beginning Monday. It now costs seven cents.

The home delivery rate of $1.50 a month remains unchanged.

Increased costs are given as the reason for the increase. The newspaper says that "a charge of 10 cents a copy across our six days of publication was the fairest way to make this adjustment as well as avoiding the inconvenience of odd-cents in purchasing."

Economic Suicide Statement Disputed

VANCOUVER (CP) — Officials of striking pulp and paper unions today disputed a statement by a lumber company executive that the forest industry is resigning to wage demands because it is determined "not to commit economic suicide."

A statement issued by the two unions involved in the 56-day-old strike of 6,000 workers was concerned with comments of President Ralph Shaw of Macmillan & Bloedel Limited at that company's annual meeting Thursday.

"We notice Mr. Shaw conveniently ignored the fact that while Macmillan & Bloedel Limited reported a profit of only $10,250,000, another $25,000,000 was plowed back into expansion," the union statement said.

"He is either avoiding facts or is completely misinformed on the issues."

The unions said that besides their demand for a 12 per cent wage increase, they are asking for a seniority clause and the right to refuse work on statutory holidays without loss of pay. The union said these are non-cost

Fuchs Given Slim Chance Of Success

AUCKLAND (Reuters) — A new controversy flared today over whether British explorer Vivian Fuchs should postpone his efforts to become the first man to cross the Antarctic continent.

Sqdn. Ldr. J. Claydon, head of the Royal New Zealand Air Force party at Scott Base on McMurdo Sound, today gave Fuchs only "the slimmest of chances" of completing his 2,100-mile trek.

BROTHERS STIR UP FAMILY FUSS

One Foot Kicks Another

LONDON (Reuters) — One Foot kicked another Foot in public print today.

Sir Hugh Foot, governor of Cyprus, was accused by his brother, John, of advertising "his intellectual accomplishments, such as they are."

The family fuss was stirred up earlier in the week by an article in the London Daily Mail on the Foot family. Four of the brothers are active in politics, often on opposing sides.

The father, Isaac, former member of Parliament and Liberal party leader, was quoted as saying:

"Sir Hugh was always considered slightly out of step in the intellectual menage. . . ."

"Even as a child he was independent. Several times when he was 6 or 7 he went off and we found him with the gypsies on the downs—hardly distinguishable from them."

SEES WHISPERS PLAN

Hugh, 50, protested in a letter to the editor that "this is the culmination of a whispering campaign put about, I am sure, by my brothers."

"They say to any newspaper man who will listen that I am a sort of wild half-wit brought up on the Cornish moors with the gypsies. They suggest that I was shuffled off overseas because I was clearly unfit to follow their pursuits of the law and politics."

Hugh said he won as many university honors as his brothers and asserted that he is their intellectual equal.

"And as to the gypsies—well, I like gypsies," Hugh said. "And who wouldn't make for the moors when the alternative was to endure the insufferable superiority of four Oxford brothers?"

Hugh went to Cambridge.

ACCUSED OF ARROGANCE

John contended Hugh's letter caused the family "some not untoward distress and embarrassment." It disclosed, he said, Hugh's two weaknesses: "The readiness to believe idle gossip" and the "monumental arrogance which leads him to assume that we, his brothers, have nothing better to do than discuss him and his affairs with newspaper men."

The Foot family consists of seven children. Other brothers prominent in politics include Michael, 44, extreme left-winger, former member of Parliament and editor of the left-wing Tribune, and Dingle, 52, distinguished lawyer and Labor member of Parliament.

BIG AND SMALL, BOTH PACK NUCLEAR WEAPONS

This dramatic comparison shot shows the largest and smallest jet combat aircraft in the United States arsenal. Both are capable of nuclear attack. The navy's pint-sized, single jet, carrier-based, one-man Douglas Skyhawk attack bomber is only 39 feet long, has a wing span of 27½ feet and weighs 15,000 pounds. The behemoth Boeing B-52 Stratofortress heavy bomber is 156½ feet long, has a wing span of 185 feet and weighs 450,000 pounds.

CCF Urges Complete Health Insurance Plan

VICTORIA (CP) — Opposition leader Robert Strachan said Friday the provincial government should now launch a complete health insurance plan. Participation of the federal government in hospital insurance "now puts the province in a position to expand the hospital insurance scheme into an overall health plan which will remove the burden of doctor's bills from the day-to-day budgeting of the average citizen."

"We should start to implement the health insurance bill that was passed by the legislature in 1935 but never proclaimed," Mr. Strachan said.

"If the premier is afraid to take this progressive step, it means that at the next session there must be an immediate reduction in the 5 per cent sales tax to at least four per cent."

Mr. Strachan said the CCF welcomed the federal action, announced in Ottawa, as the first step toward a complete social security program in Canada.

The Ottawa announcement was welcomed by government leaders, but there was no indication of how the federal contribution would be used.

Premier Bennett said B.C. is ready to enter an agreement before July 1.

"We are anxious to establish the program immediately," he said.

The total budget of the B.C. hospital insurance service in the current year is $36,000,000.

Federal contributions to the scheme will amount to about 45 per cent of the total each year.

Premier Bennett said previously the government did not intend to cut the sales tax when the federal plan went into effect.

Additional money would be used to provide additional services, he said.

Included in BCHIS plans is extension of benefits to a limited number of chronic patients who can be rehabilitated.

With federal participation the provincial plan will also be broadened to include certain diagnostic and out-patient services.

BCHIS has been financed through sales tax since premiums were abolished and the tax increased to five from three per cent.

Plan Conference On Penal Reform

By BERNARD DUFRESNE Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister David Fulton says he hopes to call a conference of provincial attorneys-general "in the reasonably near future" to discuss a revamping of Canada's penal system.

He informed the Commons he expects before long to present to the cabinet a number of suggestions, including some 15 to 20 amendments to the criminal code, to implement recommendations of the Fautoux Committee on remissions of prison sentences.

He told Harold Winch (CCF—Vancouver East), during study of his departmental estimates, that the government already has initiated some action on its own.

AUTOMATIC REVIEW

For example, automatic parole review of sentences — suggested by the committee headed by Mr. Justice Gerald Fauteux of the Supreme Court of Canada — already had been instituted in three penitentiaries and would be established in the other five federal prisons as soon as possible.

The three penitentiaries were understood to be at St. Vincent de Paul, near Montreal, Kingston, Ont., and Stony Mountain, Man.

The present system requires that a prisoner apply for a parole before his case is reviewed by the justice department remissions service.

Big Fantare Planned for Liner Leilani

VICTORIA (CP) — The "bon voyage" ceremony planned for the liner Leilani of the Hawaiian Steamship Company here this month is going to be a dandy.

Chamber of Commerce officials have promised they are "really going to blow up a storm."

The passenger liner will call here Jan. 18 after leaving Vancouver on a one-shot sailing linking Victoria to Honolulu.

Details for the dockside fanfare are still being planned but chamber spokesman Sam Lane says it will " rival the best farewells of any other port."

Pipe bands, drill teams, civic officials, service bands and spotlights are all on the agenda.

Powerful searchlights will be played on the ship during her four-hour stay and hundreds of paper streamers will be draped over it.

The finale calls for booming salutes from a field gun battery and amplified farewell songs.

Ban on Corporal Punishment Asked

OTTAWA (CP) — Harold Winch (CCF—Vancouver East) Friday introduced a bill in the Commons to ban corporal punishment as part of a judicial sentence.

He said the bill, amending the Criminal Code, embodies recommendations made in 1956 by the joint Senate-Commons committee on capital and corporal punishment and lotteries.

NEXT FEDERAL ELECTION

When Will it Be?

By DON PEACOCK Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — When will it be? And which party will precipitate it?

These were central questions in a new round of speculation on the next election provoked by a Commons reply by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Main attention of speculators was on the Liberals. What will they do once they have chosen their new leader next week?

The prime minister's reply was made to Stanley Knowles, deputy CCF leader, who asked whether another federal-provincial fiscal conference will be called before the next federal election.

DEPENDS ON OPPOSITION

That, said Mr. Diefenbaker, "would naturally depend on the conduct of my honorable friends opposite (opposition parties) and the degree to which they follow the course of action that they have followed in recent weeks."

Some observers said this indicated the prime minister might decide to appeal to the people soon on grounds his government can't get on with its program in its present minority position. Progressive Conservatives held 113 of the 265 Commons seats.

Other party standings: Liberals 108; CCF 25; Social Credit 10; Independents 2.

So far this session the Social Credit party has been disposed to support the government.

Assuming all members were present, joint forces of the Liberals and CCF would total 131. Conservatives and Social Credit would total 132—but that includes Speaker Roland Michener, who could vote only on a tie.

In such a situation the government's fate might appear to lie in the hands of the two Quebec independents but it is more likely the result would hinge on which members happen to be sick, travelling or otherwise absent. Full attendance of members is a rarity.

J. W. Pickersgill (L—Bonaville, Twillingate) asked whether Mr. Diefenbaker's reply that election dates depended on opposition conduct meant that the government won't go to the people unless defeated in this house.

Mr. Diefenbaker didn't reply. But an exchange of shouts arose among members and Mr. Pickersgill made this parting shot: "that's what he said."

10-Year Missile Effort Advocated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller, U.S. secretary of defense, recommended an "overhauling of the defence setup and an increase of about $3,000,000,000 a year in defence spending."

This was his reply to a question from Senator Lyndon B. Johnson (Dem. Tex.), as to how long "it will take us to catch up with and overtake the Soviets."

Rockefeller testified before the Senate preparedness subcommittee.

At one point in an exchange with Rockefeller, Johnson said he understood President Eisenhower's new budget, which is to be given to congress Monday, had cut air force requests for missile funds by 42 per cent. Johnson also said "little attention" had been paid to requests by other services for missile money.

But later Johnson announced to the subcommittee that he had erred. He said the cuts he was talking about were in the current budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, not in the new budget which will be for the 12 months beginning July 1.

In the main, Rockefeller's testimony was an elaboration on the report last weekend by a special study group—headed by Rockefeller— which recommended an overhauling of the defence setup and an increase of about $3,000,000,000 a year in defence spending.

COLORED RIFLES FOR WOMEN

ILION, N.Y. (AP) — Now it's colored rifles for women. Remington Arms has announced it is making a lightweight .22 rifle in buckskin and crow - wing black with stocks of harmonizing sun-grain walnut.

The weapon, designed for the so-called weaker sex, weighs four pounds and features a gold-lined bead front sight, bright-finish magazine tube and trigger and chrome step-adjustable rear sight.

It is designed to boost sales to women.

Wartime RAF Base to Close

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (CP) — Castle Archdale, the Royal Air Force's most westerly station in the United Kingdom and a wartime base for Canadian coastal command squadrons, is to be closed.

The base in County Fermanagh, Northern Ireland, has been on a care-and-maintenance basis since 1945 although used occasionally for flying boat training purposes.

The decision to close the base is part of the drive by British defence chiefs to streamline the services and to prune costs.

Opened in 1941 as RAF Lough Beg, the station was the home base of the RCAF's No. 423 Squadron throughout the war.

The Sunderland - equipped Canadian squadron was credited with the destruction of two of the 10 German U-boats sunk by planes flying from the base and shared in the destruction of another.

Japanese Navy Squadron Will Visit Honolulu

TOKYO (AP) — The first Japanese navy squadron to visit Hawaiian waters since Dec. 7, 1941, will reach Honolulu Jan. 29.

Four frigates of Japan's naval self-defence force will drop anchor in Pearl Harbor—chief target of the aerial assault that launched the Pacific war—at U.S. invitation.

The ships are on a 46-day training cruise. They leave here Jan. 14 under command of Rear Admiral Teigi Nakayama in the 1,700-ton flagship Harukaze. The others are the Sugi, Kaya and Kusu, all 1,450 tons. Three were built by Japan, one obtained from the United States.

The 665 crew and 108 graduates of the new Japanese naval academy will spend 14 days inspecting land, sea and air installations, including U.S. Pacific command headquarters. They will visit the cities of Honolulu and Hilo.

Adjournment Of House Set

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker Friday gave notice that the Commons will be adjourned next Wednesday night and Thursday.

His notice of motion published today gave no reasons for the adjournment, but it is in connection with the Liberal party leadership convention here next Tuesday and Wednesday.

The convention program Wednesday night calls for speeches by nominated leadership candidates, with windup proceedings and election of a new leader, to succeed opposition leader St. Laurent, Thursday.

The motion said that the House will adjourn at 6 p.m. Wednesday until 11 a.m. Friday. Normally, the Commons would have had sittings Wednesday night from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m., and Thursday, from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m., with lunch and supper recesses.

Heart Research Device Developed

VANCOUVER (CP) — A new device for heart research is being developed by scientists at the University of British Columbia.

It is a computer which works in three dimensions to locate certain heart faults. A two-dimensional polar cardiograph was produced at the university two years ago, the work of Dr. A. D. Moore.

From experience gained with this in the General Hospital the spherical or three-dimensional cardiograph was developed.

Research work is under direction of Dr. Gordon Dower of the faculty of medicine. The project is supported by the medical board and the B.C. Heart Foundation.

Proposals Flood Liberal Convention

By HAROLD MORRISON Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Most major functions have their organizational frustrations and crises. Trying to fit 300 proposals into five hours of discussion time may prove the big frustration of next week's Liberal convention.

The party, seeking a new leader and possibly some new ideas on how to get back into power, is being flooded with proposals. So many resolutions are pouring in from across the country it appears only a fraction will get an airing at the three-day gathering opening here Tuesday.

George Marler, provisional resolutions committee chairman, figured he would get some 200 resolutions at the most.

Now he has more than 300 and more may be coming in. And the convention has allocated only five hours for report of committees and consideration of resolutions from the floor.

This compares with some 12 hours a little over a year ago at various speakers. In fact the party has scheduled more than 35 speakers, more than double the number scheduled by the Progressive Conservatives at their convention here a year ago last December.

All this speech-making means a lot of time for the grassroots delegates to get their say. And apparently they have a lot to say. Some want more low-cost housing for Canadians, higher old age pensions, a modified credit policy, more aid for education.

Wild Animals On Increase in Northern Ontario

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP) — Wildlife officials say there now are more wild animals in Northern Ontario than at any time since the white man reached North America.

"The fact is wildlife is the most abundant ever," says Ted Cusson, assistant chief wildlife officer here. "The number of bear, beaver, moose, deer, fisher, marten, lynx and wolves is phenomenal. The records of the first white men didn't report anything like it."

Indian trappers agree. "Never before have I seen so many animals in the forest," said veteran trapper Gabriel Anishenabie.

And Mike Pennasay, another old Ojibway trapper who lives at Garden Village, says he can trap fish at the back door of his shack.

QUECHUA BEAUTY

This colorfully garbed girl is Isabel Mamani, chosen as the most beautiful "Quechua" girl of the Peruvian Andes Mountains from among hundreds of authentic Indians of Quechua or Aymara races. She is shown in Lima, where she will stay a year as part of her first prize.

Oliver Legion Installation

OLIVER—Members of the Oliver Legion attended a dinner meeting Wednesday night when the new officers—president Dave Pugh; vice-president Fred Hack; secretary John Walsh and members of their executive—were formally installed by Zone Commander Comrade Bolton from Penticton.

The president's report of the year's work showed an enviable record. Projects included extending the children's swimming pool to 120 feet and provision of life guard and instructor through the summer months; donations to the Boy Scout Association and Poppy Day, and funds raised for welfare work.

A proposal to make alterations in the floor of the Legion Hall to provide for erection of a boxing ring was discussed and will be considered. The cost was estimated at about $100.

Parishioners Agree Over Lottery Win

EASTBOURNE, Eng. (Reuters) — Parishioners at St. John's Anglican Church are split on how to handle £1,000 won in a government-sponsored lottery.

Some don't want the church to touch the money. Others say it should be used to aid the parish in this seaside resort.

The money was won under the government's "saving with a thrill" program. Britons buy £1 bonds and get the opportunity to win up to £1,000. The prize money comes from what normally would be paid for interest on a savings account and the bonds can be cashed at any time.

Prime Minister Macmillan introduced the premium bond plan in 1956 when he was chancellor of the exchequer and some leaders of the Church of England opposed the program then, claiming it was a "something for nothing" gambling snare.

The government leaders said it wasn't gambling, because the investor was sure of getting his money back.

Anti-Reds on Chinese Paper

HONG KONG (AP) — Red China has admitted that no less than 13 staff members of its official organ, the Peiping People's Daily have turned out to be anti-Communists.

One editor, the Peiping paper says, described communism as "a society full of darkness and bloodstains."

The Jan. 5 issue of the paper, just received in Hong Kong, says the most important offender within the editorial fold was Chiang Yuan-chuang, director of the eastern division of the editorial department. The rest were editors and reporters.

"These rightists were actively engaged in anti-party, anti-social crimes," the paper says. "They slandered the Communist party leadership of the paper and described it as 'imperialism.' They also opposed publication of party communiques, directives and documents on the ground this would turn the paper into a billboard."

Submission Asks Coal Mining Aid

HALIFAX (CP)—Mines Minister A. E. Manson has released details of a submission to the federal government drawn up after a provincial mines ministers' conference in September.

The submission, proposing means of bolstering Canada's coal industry, said "large-scale use of coal will be essential for economic development of Canada. This cannot be achieved if markets for coal continue to decline with resultant closure of mines, loss of facilities and elimination of skilled technicians and miners."

It said a close watch should be kept on the expanding natural gas industry. Since new gas lines might be kept at maximum flow pending a market development, gas might be sold for a short period at low prices. This would close coal mines.

It urged government protection of mining provinces which might be adversely affected by opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway and advocated freight subventions to keep coal in competition with imported crude oils. Cheap oil could displace coal used now in utility plants.

Other submissions included development of minerals in national parks, and consideration of tax concessions to encourage Canadians to finance oil and mineral exploration.

Institution Has Shortage Of Prisoners

MILLBROOK, Ont. (CP)—The penal institution overlooking this village (population 766) 12 miles southwest of Peterborough has a prisoner shortage.

At present, six months after the gates first swung open, only 100 prisoners occupy its 250 cells.

Regarded as escape-proof by penal experts, the $3,500,000 institution has apparently proved to be a deterrent to potential inmates—reform institution prisoners guilty of disturbing rehabilitation programs.

Officials say the Millbrook prison has played a decisive role in easing tensions in these institutions — so much so that the number of "disturbers" has dropped well below the average experienced before Millbrook was built.

Prisoners live in sparsely-equipped cells and minimum contact is maintained between guards and prisoners at all times — even meals are brought to the cells. Prisoners mix with each other only during exercise or work periods.

Grasshoppers to Invade Prairies

SASKATOON (CP)—Grasshoppers may again be invading the Prairies, which have been relatively free from this crop hazard since 1950.

Western grain crops have been relatively free from the pest for the last seven years, largely because of good weather conditions. But a report presented to a field husbandry seminar at the University of Saskatchewan recently noted growing infestations of grasshopper eggs.

L. G. Putnam, a federal entomologist, warned that more and more insects are appearing. Mr. Putnam said it is difficult to forecast when a full-scale epidemic of grasshoppers will again strike the Prairies. A serious outbreak had been forecast in 1951, and insecticides were stockpiled to meet the threat, but a period of rains prevented an outbreak.

Formal presentation of a cheque for $25, the first local donation in the current campaign on behalf of the University of British Columbia's development fund, was made last night in the Hotel

This scene in a UBC shelter—a former army hut—shows inadequacy of student housing. All these young men students have to share a single wash basin. Provision of additional residential facilities hold a high priority in The University of British Columbia Development Fund appeal, now entering the intensive phase. The provincial government will match every publicly contributed dollar up to $7,500,000.

Church Break-In, Two Auto Mishaps

OSOYOOS — An unsuccessful break-in at a church and two auto accidents were reported by RCMP here today.

An attempted theft from a small cabinet in the vestry of St. Ann's Roman Catholic Church, Wednesday, failed when the key for the cupboard broke off in the lock. It was reported to police the cabinet held several hundred dollars.

The accidents yesterday, both due to icy road conditions, resulted in damage estimated at $1,200 and slight injury to a passenger in one of the vehicles.

At 10 a.m. a car driven by Mrs. L. Robert Wheeler of Oliver veered out of control, hit the bank and rolled over three miles north of Osoyoos.

A companion in the car, Mrs. Sinclair, suffered injuries to her left side. An estimated $750 damage to the car was reported.

Penticton Man Back Again in Show Business

Henry Meyerhoff, pioneer showman of the North American continent and a long-time resident of Penticton, is back in the show business against his will.

Mr. Meyerhoff sold his equipment a few years ago and retired but was recently compelled to take the equipment back. It includes a merry-go-round, ferris wheels and a fun house.

"I'm not too happy about having to take it all back," he said. "I have tried to sell the equipment and haven't been able to get an offer anywhere near its value. I won't be able to go on the road due to my health but it will be on the road starting in May."

Mr. and Mrs. Hadley of Los Angeles will run the show for him. For many years Mr. Meyerhoff operated Crescent Shows.

Capacity Enrolment In W. Bench School

Capacity enrolment at the West Bench Elementary School has made it impossible to allow transfer of any more youngsters to the school this term. Penticton school board has announced that West Bench parents whose children are now attending primary school in town, are asked not to transfer their youngsters to the West Bench unit for the balance of this term.

Third Break-In At Library in Three Months

A break-in at the Penticton branch of the Okanagan Regional Library on Wade Avenue late Thursday night or early Friday morning netted thieves a total of $47.

The break-in, the third in three months at the library, was discovered by librarian Mrs. Jessie Van der Burg who found the door ajar on arrival at the library yesterday morning.

Entrance had been gained by prying open a window facing Wade Avenue.

Investigating officers of the RCMP said the missing money included several bills and some silver.

Board Urges More Park, School Sites

SUMMERLAND—A revision in membership fees for the Summerland Board of Trade was made at the general meeting Thursday.

Rates set and approved by members were one single person or a business having two employees $5; three employees including the proprietor $7.50; four to six employees including the proprietor $10; and over six employees $20.

The board will hold its annual banquet on Jan. 29. It was announced the Good Citizen Cup will be presented at this time. Nominations for the award are being received by the executive up to January 17.

The annual meeting and election of officers will be held in February.

7 Delegates To Convention

SUMMERLAND — Seven delegates from the Summerland local of the BCFGa will attend the convention to be held in Kelowna next week it was announced last night.

Those selected at a meeting of the organization were president James Mayne, secretary John Caldwell, Hans Stoll, John Holman, Walter F. Ward, Paul Charles and Colin McKenzie.

A discussion of the resolutions to be placed before the convention took place prior to a short address by William June of Naramata.

SCHOOL DISCIPLINE GOOD

Strapping Last Resort Here

Should there be more corporal punishment in Canadian schools as advocated this week at Toronto by the incoming chairman of the suburban North York board of education?

The answer is "no" as far as Penticton area schools are concerned to a Herald survey of local education officials yesterday afternoon.

AS LAST RESORT "The officials, pointing out that corporal punishment is used in schools here but only as a last resort, said discipline was good on the whole and a pattern of firmness with kindness and understanding was being established."

The Toronto official, Ronald Hastings, said in his inaugural address, "The only way to improve the standard of education and cut down this rate of failures in high schools is more discipline and more competition in the classroom... there isn't enough discipline in the schools. Corporal punishment should be used — at the discretion of the principal, of course."

DISCIPLINE VERY GOOD As far as Penticton school district is concerned, P. F. Ernst, school board chairman, said "discipline is very good with corporal punishment being used sparingly."

E. E. Ilyndman, inspector of schools, said the district has "never taken any extreme position" on the matter of corporal punishment in schools and does not intend to change its policy.

"We believe in good discipline without going off the deep end," he said. "Where corporal punishment is needed, it is given. The teacher has the authority since the Act says the teacher will act as a kind, firm and judicious parent."

"I think that we have probably set a pattern of firmness with kindness," Mr. Ilyndman added.

Past president's pin for the auxiliary was presented to Mrs. Jack McKay by Mrs. Ramsey. A large number of legion members and families enjoyed the banquet which followed the installation. Catering was by Mrs. C. C. Jackson with Bob Baillie as master of ceremonies. Graham Kincaid represented Penticton Branch 40 at the gathering.

SPCA Probing Animal Poisoning

A report that dogs in the area have been poisoned by eating spray and other formulas in orchards, was discussed at the general meeting of the British Columbia Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, Penticton Branch, this week. This is being investigated.

Dr. E. Earnshaw, Mrs. H. Luxton, H. Gough and E. Berg were named to a committee to draft plans for an animal shelter.

Inspector Eric Berg is leaving shortly for Vancouver to take a course in inspector and constable training.

Awards were presented to senior girls for work on the year's essay. First prize went to Karen Letts with 1068 points. Second prize was won by Carol McQueen with 969 points. Laura Christian came third with 919 points.

Sandra Faber was cited for honorable mention.

Three new members were welcomed. The "Junior girls' class," under supervision of Mrs. Myrtle Carter for the past two and a half years, now comes under the direction of Mr. Berg while Mrs. Carter will continue to supervise the boys' class.

Inspector's report for the month was as follows: Eight cats put to sleep, one dog taken to the pound, one dog put to sleep, one cripple sparrow destroyed, and several complaints about dogs and cats investigated. Many dogs and cats were reported missing during the holiday season but nearly all of them were found and returned to their owners.

Osoyoos Light-up Contest Winners

OSOYOOS — Terry Wells and the Osoyoos Sports Shop were top winners in the Board of Trade Christmas Light-up campaign conducted over the festive season.

Mr. Wells won his prize, one of 66 donated by business houses, for his residential display. Other winners in this section were Arvid Johnson, Eric Becker, J. W. Cox, W. de Lander and H. Bryan.

Placing second to Osoyoos Sports Shop in the commercial section was Fraser Agencies, Rogers Motel was third.

Similar observations were made by D. P. O'Connell, elementary schools principal, who said the strap is used on rare occasions for elementary students too as a last resort. This would not be more than twice a year for any individual student, he said.

He explained that elementary school teachers have the authority to use corporal punishment when they deem necessary though they usually consult the principal first. When the strap is administered there is a second teacher present as witness.

Teachers have the authority to use it, however, and must report to the principal to keep him informed.

Corporal punishment is not used at the senior high school level. "In senior high we feel that the students are approaching adulthood and there are other

BCFGa Parley Facing Big Industry Problems

KELOWNA — "What happens next?" is a question that many British Columbia fruit growers will be asking at their 69th annual BCFGa convention here Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Rising costs of production, diminishing returns to the grower, higher costs of transportation and increasingly keen competition for markets are the big problems facing the fruit industry. All of these will probably receive intensive discussion at the three day parley.

The convention, to be held in the Aqua ballroom, opens on Tuesday. Around 500 delegates, growers, invited guests and others, vitally connected with the fruit industry will be in attendance.

The convention, to be held in the Aqua ballroom, opens on Tuesday. Around 500 delegates, growers, invited guests and others, vitally connected with the fruit industry will be in attendance.

Delegates and visitors will be guests of the city of Kelowna and the board of trade at a banquet Wednesday evening.

Wednesday afternoon there will be an address by W. D. Cummings, general manager of Consolidated Fruit Company at Calgary.

The 3.6 per cent increase in freight rates will be a major topic of discussion, although growers received an 11th hour reprieve when Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced the boost has been set back to March 1.

OTHER METHODS? It's a foregone conclusion that producers will be anxious to know if any steps have been taken to encourage other methods of transportation. Many are looking forward to the completion of the Rogers Pass section of the Trans-Canada Highway.

This, they feel, will open a new avenue to tap the Prairie market and produce could then be delivered directly to wholesalers or retail outlets.

Many producers are also looking forward to the release of Dean E. D. MacPhee's royal commission report. This is not expected to be ready for about two months. Many of the older time growers feel there will be nothing in the report that they didn't already know or that can't be corrected by the industry itself.

PGE REGRETS "ERROR" NORTH VANCOUVER, B.C. (CP) — The Pacific Great Eastern Railway has taken "corrective measures" to avoid stranding passengers following an incident last Sunday at Horseshoe Bay.

The railway's general manager, J. S. Broadbent, said Friday the train crew "unfortunately" failed to pick up northbound passengers at Horseshoe Bay contrary to railway practice.

Annual Meeting of Shareholders The Royal Bank of Canada

James Muir declares Electors and Government jointly responsible with Business and Labour in curbing inflation

Creation of new financial institution suggested to fill need for more adequate long term export financing. Time ripe for Money Market, to assume more positive function.

Small Borrower Not Neglected

Generally speaking, banks are in position to take care of the legitimate needs of all credit-worthy small to moderate borrowers," said Mr. Muir.

In the past few months, however, there has been a great deal of talk about scarcity of credit for this sector of our economy; and the government authorities have apparently become exercised about it. Frankly, I am baffled when I read of these things and I cannot escape the impression that the whole case must be grossly exaggerated, or that, perhaps without realizing it, we may be witnessing an evolution in this field. It may be that a fundamental change is taking place in our economy which the small merchant is experiencing something that credit cannot help. There is some evidence not only that sales are becoming more and more concentrated, but that sales and production units are developing an increasingly close relationship with one another.

"From the inception of the tight money policy, your bank has made it clear by word of mouth and by repeated written communications to all of our branches that they were still required to deal sympathetically with applications for personal and small business loans. Policy there has been a reduction in the number of borrowers but a substantial reduction as well in the amount borrowed in this particular field. As far as this bank is concerned, the credit facilities have been available, our Managers have been known of this policy and yet it would seem that small borrowers have not taken advantage of their opportunities to obtain credit."

ROYAL BANK ABROAD "Due to experience gained in more than 50 years since our first branch was established abroad, we are well equipped to deal with the peculiarities of international banking," said Mr. Sedgewick. Referring to the British West Indies area where important constitutional developments are taking place, Mr. Sedgewick mentioned that the bank is playing a part in assisting in the economic growth of this newly developing member of the Commonwealth family. It also spoke of the unusual opportunities which exist for young men with aptitude and desire for a career in international banking, pointing out that there are openings in the bank for a select number of such young men each year.

BROADER MONEY MARKET Four years ago, Mr. Muir recalled, he had mentioned that it might be worth while to investigate the possibilities of a short-term money market in Canada. "Such a market," he said, "did come into being about six months later. We should, I believe, now study the possibilities of broadening the base of our money market. As of now, the only instruments available for use within this market are Government Treasury Bills and government bonds with a maturity not exceeding three years. What I have particularly in mind is a study of possible steps to achieve the status of a real money market, that is a market that would include commercial paper in the form of bankers' acceptances. Useful as our present money market is, it would, I believe, be worthwhile to determine whether or not it is ready by this time to outgrow its swaddling clothes and become a more lusty and an increasingly independent part of our financial system."

Trade Unions and the Pistol-at-The-Head Demand

Edward Benson's address to the Penticton Board of Trade last Thursday was refreshing in its forthrightness. It isn't too often these days that a man engaged in heavy industry dares to suggest that trade unions prefer to use the gun-at-the-head technique in their negotiations. But it is a truth.

We find ourselves hoping that one day a new type of labor leader will emerge from the ranks of the workmen, a man able to bring confidence to the conference table rather than threats.

There is no doubt at all that much of the credit for present day working conditions is due to organized labor. And there is even less doubt that in days gone by they were compelled to use whatever force they could to achieve their ends. For their early struggles we praise them. But we can see little worthy of praise in the incessant demand for "more" most trade unions make today.

Not that all employers are as justified as they might be. There are still some who seek to exploit their workers with an eye to greater profits and devil take the man who makes them. But such employers are few these days and can usually be persuaded to change their minds.

The thing that alarms us most about organized labor is its almost parrot like demand for a wage increase each time contract conferences open. There seems to be little regard for general economy in such demands. The old contract is up, the new one due, therefore a wage demand is a must. And then the pistol is placed at the employers' forehead.

There must be a solution somewhere, but just how to get men to trust each other and work together for that which is good for the majority has been vexing the finest minds for centuries.

Brighter Streets an Urgent Need

For a city of its size Penticton must have some of the duller streets in B.C. Not only are street lamps few and far between once the main streets are left, but they are invariably—even on the main streets—of archaic design.

There are one or two bright spots where modern lights are over the road, providing not only illumination but bright pools of cheer on a wintry night. But for the most part dismal street lamps splash faded yellow light across our streets providing little more illumination than the gas lamps of Dicken's day.

Such street lighting does not enhance our reputation as a progressive city. Neither does it impress the travellers passing through Penticton during the winter.

Smaller towns than Penticton, and far less wealthy towns at that, keep their streets well lighted with the latest design street lamps. In so doing they increase the safety of their streets after dark, and give the entire district a bright, perky, clean appearance.

If Penticton's reputation as a progressive tourist town is to grow, it needs to plan now for a brighter-streets program next winter.

Kitimat Graduates To Normal Status

By MARTIN TAYLOR
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KITIMAT, B.C. (CP) — This five-year-old smelter town of 14,000, born in boom times and weaned on prosperity, finally has become what its reeve calls a normal community.

Carved out of a wilderness, the Aluminum Company of Canada smelter came into production here in 1954 with plans for a city of 50,000 population, the dream of the pioneers.

The dream remains, but there has been a change from the prosperous days and the winter will be hard for many.

1,700 LAID OFF

The change came with the lay-off of 1,700 workers when the Saguway - Kitimat Construction Company, a subsidiary of Alcan, announced it would gradually close down operations by April 1958. The company had decided not to proceed with expansion to seven from five in the number of its "pottines"—series of vats in which aluminum ore is refined.

"No layoff is good news—it is a catastrophe for the family man who is left without a job," says Reeve Wilbur Hallman. "But this levelling-off will be healthy for our economy in the long run. We are no longer a construction camp—we are a normal community, living a normal life."

No one here says Kitimat is going to be a ghost town. But the community will never forget Oct. 28—"Black Monday."

It was the day the layoffs were announced. It came without warning. Many workers and their families left the town. Many others, though jobless, stayed.

WORLD DEMAND OFF

A slump in world markets for aluminum brought the slow-down.

The giant smelter, where hundreds are still employed, continued operation, a silver stream of aluminum, hot and smoking, pouring from the fiery pottines. Despite a temporary layoff recently caused by a breakdown in the power line between here and the massive hydro station at Kemano, more than 4,000 workers look forward to steady employment in the town and plant. They make about $1,500,000 a month.

The halt in construction was termed by Howard Mitchell, publisher of the Northern Sentinel, the first bad news Kitimat ever had.

In the first wave of uncertainty following "Black Monday" union officials say nine families auctioned off their furniture at giveaway prices within two days.

UNION'S CLAIMS

Union officials have condemned management for the layoffs. They claim many of the workers were promised permanent jobs when they moved to Kitimat.

Union officers and members, however, are working with community action committee with plans for aiding the jobless families, and planning for the future.

Reeve Hallman says existence of a labor pool here for the first time will stimulate construction. New housing projects may be started, and a $3,800,000 hospital is planned.

Business and commerce have so far been little affected by the layoffs. Union officials say this is because Alcan workers recently received $600,000 in retroactive pay raises. The extra money is acting as a cushion for trade.

But the Northern Sentinel, a newspaper which became a daily less than six months ago, has had to resume twice-weekly publication. Mr. Mitchell says it will become a daily again as soon as Kitimat recovers from its setback.

COSTLY DEVELOPMENT

Kitimat, 450 miles north of Vancouver on the rugged British Columbia coast, has been developed at a cost of more than $380,000,000, with the ultimate goal planned by Alcan set at $550,000,000.

It is not strictly a "company town." All the land originally was owned by the company but some has since been sold to private business concerns and some to individuals for homes. Most families affected by the layoffs live in homes rented from Alcan. An employee building his own home is granted a second mortgage by Alcan, which provides for repurchase of the property by Alcan if the employee leaves before the mortgage is paid off.

Those living in rented houses have had their payments reduced under a "deferred rental" plan. Legally they will owe the company the unpaid amount but Alcan has said it will not ask payment if a laid-off family subsequently leaves town.

Kitimat is a district municipality and its reeve and councillors are elected. Most are Alcan employees since the only other employment in the area is in retail establishments. Reeve Hallman edits The Ingot, weekly newspaper published by Alcan for its employees.

ABUNDANCE OF POWER

Cheap and plentiful hydro-electric power is the reason for Kitimat's existence. Damming of outlets of mountain lakes provided a 350-square-mile reservoir. Water rushes through a 10-mile-long tunnel to a powerhouse in the mountainside at Kemano 50 miles south of Kitimat. The water drops 16 times the height of Niagara Falls before passing through five huge turbines.

Carpenter Dick Peterson, who came here three years ago from Edmonton and lives with his wife and two children in an Alcan home, was one of the first to be laid off.

The company has reduced his rent to $40 from $90 a month on a "deferred rental" plan.

Meanwhile he has payments to meet on $1,800 worth of furniture which he bought when he moved his family here in April and only $30 a week unemployment insurance benefits to look forward to.

"We can't go anywhere else—the employment situation is just as bad everywhere now. This is our home now," he says.

SEE BLEAK FUTURE

The future looks bleak, too, for Mr. and Mrs. Steve Nagy who moved here from Niagara Falls, Ont., in July, 1956.

The 57-year-old Hungarian-born shoemaker gave up his trade to work as a laborer for the construction company and invested more than $700 in moving a few possessions here. He says there is no hope of getting a job anywhere else at his age.

"What can we do?" asks Mrs. Nagy. "We can only hope — we have often had to get by with hope. This is our home now and we plan to spend the rest of our lives here."

Business agent Ernie Rodda of the carpenters' union says many families like these face severe hardship because they were encouraged to settle in Kitimat.

"We are construction workers, we're used to layoffs at one hour's notice," he says, "but the company insisted this was a permanent job and encouraged men to regard Kitimat as their home."

NO ALTERNATIVE

Project manager Jack Kendrick of Alcan says the company had no alternative to the construction close-down.

"The whole economy of North America has lost its drive in the last six months. Many industries have been compelled to re-examine their capital programs."

Mr. Kendrick agrees that the company encouraged men to bring their families to this remote community. But he says it paid the fares for its employees and their dependents to come here and has offered to contribute to their cost of moving out.

America on Brink of A New Crime Outbreak?

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Who rubbed out Albert Anastasia? Who shot Frank Costello?

Is America on the brink of a gory crime war? Who is No. 1 in the crime hierarchy? Who wants to be?

Is the Mafia ominously real? Or is it a storybook word to catch the headlines?

These are problems occupying law enforcement agencies while a disturbed public awaits the next move.

Hints of a possible new blood bath are to be found in Costello's brush with death, Anastasia's gangland-style killing in a hotel barber shop in midtown New York and the recent mysterious "summit conference" on a wooded hilltop in Apalachin, N.Y.

PROOF COMES HARD

Crime is a shadowy substance. It's much easier to suspect than to prove. Most authorities believe it operates at a national level. Some think there is an organized international group.

For years many have scoffed at the existence of a powerful Mafia. They tell you the old Sicilian-based society was wiped out by Benito Mussolini years ago. Some say the real leadership rests in the United States, a multi-national confederation. Others insist the Mafia, the old Neapolitan Camorra and the Unione are interchangeable parts of the same organization. Even the authorities disagree.

The Mafia, once known in the United States as the Black Hand, is a Sicilian protective and benefit organization at home, called "the Honorable Society" by Sicilians.

It was formed centuries ago as a secret underground to protect Sicilians against their foreign rulers. Mafia became virtually a state within a state, enforcing its own law for the benefit of those under its protection.

HAS LONG ARM

Mafia still collects "taxes" to finance its "benefit" in Sicily. Its driving force is the vendetta, or revenge against those who scorn its protection. It can reach into prison to avenge a betrayer. It can see that farms prosper—or don't.

The U.S. narcotics bureau rates the Mafia as a most important factor in the drug traffic. But the FBI doesn't see eye to eye.

An FBI source in Washington says 30 or 40 years ago there was some basis for talk of Mafia terror on a local scale. He insists tales of an international network are nothing more than "a nice storybook phrase."

Debatable though the Mafia seems to be, everybody has a pet theory about the Costello shooting, the Anastasia murder and the affair of Apalachin.

COSTELLO SEMI-RETIRED

Costello, often described as the No. 1 man of the syndicate, is in trouble with the income tax and immigration people. At 66, he generally is pictured in semi-retirement, about ready to hand over the reins to a new No. 1.

His scalp was creased with a 38-calibre slug on May 2, in an awkward attempt to kill him. In his pocket was found a slip of paper on which had been written figures corresponding exactly to the take of a Las Vegas gambling casino.

Was Costello shot because he was talking too much? Or was he in the way of a younger element, seeking to take charge?

The attempt on Costello's life was amateurish compared with the professional killing of Anastasia in October. The man who allegedly had a hand in 63 killings as the reported "lord high executioner" of Murder, Inc., had no hint of his end. He walked into the barber shop of a New York hotel and calmly took a seat. Two masked men walked in, pumped 10 shots into him and fled.

Anastasia, 53, was old enough to be a member of the old guard which must go if a younger element takes over. He also was reported to be a "don" (leader) in the Mafia and a potential threat to the man who might succeed Costello. Some even said he had been involved in the attempt on Costello's life.

THE MOB MEETS

The "why" of the Apalachin convention attended by 8 workers is even more debatable. Some of the theories advanced say it occurred:

1. To cut up Anastasia's empire.

2. To stamp out a revolt of the youthful element.

3. To consider the effects of the U.S. Senate investigations.

4. To enact a new No. 1 of the Mafia.

5. To handle blabbermouths who were talking too much.

6. To execute—or spirit away—Anastasia's killers.

If any of the Apalachin visitors are deported to Italy, they will have plenty of company. Lucky Luciano, convicted of compulsory prostitution in the U.S. in 1936 and deported 10 years later, and Joe Adonis are back in Italy.

The old order seems to be crumbling. But a new generation, lean and hungry, is eager to take over. Perhaps the shot at Costello and the slaying of Anastasia are the first signs. If the Apalachin barbeque was a real council of war, the worst is yet to come.

What happens if you change the per-quarier flat-rate? If you charge volume-pickup at households, before you know it the stuff gets dumped anywhere from cars. Stay with the flat-rate, I say, and charge 10 cents extra all-round on the flat-rate.

But if you charge differing rates per household, and more to the taxpayer with two garbage cans instead of the neighbor with one can full, then I'll put in a petition that my school-lex be collected per volume too. You see I have only one boy in school now; others may have two or three children at school! Better be careful when you begin to discriminate, starting with the garbage-can.

For a "clean" town.

HOUSEHOLDER.

P.S.: Electric ranges do not burn refuse. You may have the bigger garbage-collection from the household with electric range, but you make your sizeable profit on electricity proportionately higher from the household with the electric range. The householder with less garbage shares in this profit.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Ike's Appeal For Confidence

Canadian Press Staff Writer

President Eisenhower's State of the Union message, promising a stepped-up military program to meet the growing challenge of Soviet power, was designed largely to restore public and congressional confidence in his leadership.

For the time being at least, the president may have achieved that objective.

His 45-minute address to Congress was one of the strongest he has made. It bristled with plans for accelerated programs for long-range missiles, advanced aircraft, nuclear submarines and the other implements of mid-20th-century warfare.

FAULTS ADMITTED

It contained just the right amount of balance—a confession that "most of us" failed to anticipate the psychological impact of the first Russian satellite, an admission that the U.S. is "probably" behind the Soviets in some areas of missile development and a promise "to assure that our vigilance, power and technical excellence keep abreast of any realistic threat we face."

Democratic party leaders, in increasingly critical of the lack of White House leadership in recent months, gave the address a favorable reception.

What remains to be seen now is whether Eisenhower places before Congress the detailed legislation necessary to give effective force to the programs he outlined.

TOTAL COLD WAR

Generally, the State of the Union message is comparable to the speech from the throne delivered before each new session of the Canadian Parliament. Both review the year past, analyze the state of the country's well-being and outline the government's legislative program.

This time, however, Eisenhower skipped the preliminaries concentrating mainly on the steps needed to meet the state of "total cold war" which he said the Soviets have declared.

He devoted a considerable portion of his address to inter-service rivalries, which many feel have hampered the effectiveness of the armed forces, and indicated he will recommend reorganization to achieve "real unity."

NO ARMS PLAN

His comment that there must be a "clear subordination" of the military services to the civilian authority may have been aimed at two top generals who recently have criticized the military budget.

Eisenhower opened up no new avenues on the key issue of disarmament but he promised U.S. allies abroad that "any reasonable proposal that holds promise for disarmament and reduction of tension" will be "heard, discussed and, if possible, negotiated."

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

Friends Concerned About Man's Estate

Having given the past 25 years to a bachelor, now 70, is she entitled to share his estate?

Dear Mary Haworth: This is a matter of deep concern to us, and we shall watch for and abide by your opinion.

John is 70 and Elizabeth is 50. They have been devoted to each other for 25 years. It is a good—very good—relationship; frowned on by none; respected, accepted. They are loved by all who know them.

They have not been able to marry because of family responsibilities. John has two older sisters, also a niece and nephew in their forties, neither of them married; and he always has made his home with them.

ESTATE WORTH HUNDRED GRAND

Elizabeth has devoted all her time to John, working with him in his business as well. He has an estate worth about $100,000; and we wonder whether, in view of his family responsibilities—there is an obligation, ethical or moral, to apportion some part of his estate to Elizabeth? (It doesn't know of our interest.)

Please believe us, a right decision in this matter is very important. And we look forward to your immediate reply. Sincerely, K. S.

MAN IS HIDING BEHIND EXCUSE

Dear K. S.: It is nonsense to claim that bachelor business man with properties amounting to $100,000 has been denied marriage due to family responsibilities. In John's case, that is just an excuse for staying on the immature side of life—along with his older sister, and the niece and nephew (now in their forties) who've never been married.

A man with that much of a backlog at age 70 has been a pretty sound operator, financially, for a good many years. I should guess. He has made a solid success. If not a spectacular fortune; hence is frugal and cautious by nature, I infer—inclined to play his cards close to his chest, as the phrase is.

John's failure to marry is his unswerving devoted secretary and constant companion (of 25 years) is simply a covert decision on the selfish side. It means that he just doesn't see fit to make an unnecessary commitment, from his view.

GOT HIMSELF A BARGAIN

He isn't the generous, outgoing, considerate or protective type. Having Elizabeth on a bargain, as paid help in the office and a social acolyte for free—and a household of kinswomen at home to minister to his domestic comfort—he has just coasted through a lifetime alliance with her, exploiting her allegiance, without establishing his.

He has bested Elizabeth indignantly. He has put over a negative deal in an indirect way, side-stepping ethical considerations instead of coming to grips with the issue and making a positive investment in favor of Elizabeth.

Now you are asking, in effect: Does he owe Elizabeth a widow's recompense in his estate, in the event of his death—inasmuch as she has been at his side for the last quarter century? Frankly, I don't know.

IS CONSCIENCE STILL REACTIVE?

It could be argued, against the idea, that Elizabeth has thrown her life away on John by her own choice, with her eyes open—since his perennial failure to marry her proved long ago that he offered nothing wholehearted or permanent. A man's actions speak louder than words in matters of the kind, as every woman knows, who will face the facts of life.

In the last analysis, the question rests with John and Elizabeth, as to what he owes her in a final accounting of their partnership. Rather, the answer rests with John—as to the outcome. I doubt that Elizabeth could substantiate a collectable claim to a share in his estate, if he doesn't remember her in his will.

However, if John's conscience is still responsive to righteous principles at this writing and not dead as a doornail due to hardened selfishness, he can't help feeling an ingrained duty after all these years to leave something worthwhile to her, from the final distribution of his estate.

Parties, Concerts at Valley View Lodge

Many parties and other entertainments highlighted December for residents at Valley View Lodge. Early in the month a reception was held in the lounge to honor Rev. and Mrs. A. F. Irving of Trout Creek. Pretty seasonal decorations centred the table where Mrs. W. Adams and Mrs. S. Brunner presided for the enjoyable occasion. Musical selections entertained the guests.

Honored guests at the regular monthly birthday were H. Haines, B. Yule, Mrs. A. Neuber, Mrs. E. Baskin, Mrs. W. Adams, Mrs. W. McDonald, Mrs. D. Godkin and Miss I. Kalota.

A huge decorated tree centred the lounge at the residence when the guests were entertained at a Christmas party. Gifts were given to all and candy and nuts served during the evening. A program of music added pleasure to the evening.

A party for staff members was held in the dining room on December 23. Gifts from the decorated tree, games and refreshments were all part of the evening's entertainment.

The Salvation Army conducted a musical concert and presented Christmas treats to the residents during the month, while others entertaining with music were the DeMolays, Mrs. E. McNeill, Mrs. H. Pelham, young people from the Church of the Nazarene, the United Church Explorers and the 1st Penticton Brownies Pack. The former group and their leader Mrs. Don Steele, took a decorated tree to the lodge and the Brownies with their leader, Mrs. J. Wall, took a hamper of Christmas "goodies."

On Christmas Eve the Young Peoples' Group of the Bethel Tabernacle presented a short play under the direction of Mrs. W. C. Irvine, Mrs. S. Peel and J. Kraft.

The choir from the Church of God at Trout Creek presented a Christmas cantata "Wonderful" by Haldor Lillenas. The solo parts were sung by Bryce Farrow and Miss Marjorie Rabel, a duet by the Misses Lois Miller and Marilyn Embree and a trio by the Misses Helen and Marilyn Farrow and Dallis Stoney. The choir was under the leadership of Mrs. W. Davies.

The Sunday church services for the past month were conducted by Rev. Samuel McGladdey, Rev. W. C. Irvine, Rev. A. F. Irving of Trout Creek, Rev. Ernest Rands and Canon A. R. Eagles.

Mrs. M. E. Raincock of Penticton took up residence at the Valley View during December.

KEEP IN TRIM

Calories Add Up Faster After Forty

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Let's play a calorie game. If your daily food consumption adds up to just 100 excess calories a day, how many pounds will you gain in a single year? If you guessed 10 pounds, you had the correct answer.

As a basis for figuring, use 3,500 calories to the pound. Pure fat furnishes nine calories per gram and yields 4,321 calories to the pound. But body fat is partly water, thus the figure of 3,500 calories is used to represent a pound of weight.

It's surprising how quickly a hundred excess calories can slip in. A tablespoon of butter or margarine, an ounce of cheese, 10 potato chips, two tablespoons of whipping cream, an average slice of bread lightly buttered, a piece of candy—each boosts the calories by 100.

Alas, why do the pounds pile on faster after forty? You may contend that you eat the same amount as you did formerly... but still the pointer on the scales climbs. Well, there are two reasons. Your metabolic rate has decreased. Fact is, basic fuel requirements decrease at least five per cent for each decade of life after age 25. Also, you have no doubt eased up some on physical activity. Today the mechanical factor which is so large a part of modern living further lessens calorie requirements.

This being the time of year to take stock... how many pounds did you gain in the past year? Perhaps it was a mere three to five pounds. Well, that is nothing to be alarmed about, but if that is a trend, in five years you will have added 15 to 25 pounds. That's the insidious part of it... the pounds come on so slowly as to almost go unnoticed—for a while.

The solution is to alter the pattern of your daily meals so as to bring the daily calories down to your requirements. Chances are not many changes will need to be made. The most effective way to lessen calories is to cut down on fat. On your baked potato or slice of bread, limit butter to a half pat. Leave off the fat rich gravy and sauces. If you choose a potato or other starchy vegetable, then omit bread with that meal. On the dessert score, a piece of pie furnishes 300 or more calories. When you treat yourself to a rich calorie dessert, limit the main course to lean meat and non-starchy vegetables.

It's not difficult to keep the score on calories... and calorie control is the key to weight control.

Never try to brush away hard-packed snow, such as you find where it has been tracked; brushing only packs it harder. Some sort of scraper is best for that job. Such scrapers can now be bought in combination with plastic-bristled push brooms, thus eliminating the carrying of two tools.

Tools Help Soften Clatter of Housework

By ELEANOR ROSS

All the tools that are needed to keep a house clean and tidy seem to make a lot of noise. However, designers of household equipment are now trying to change all this by making use of new compositions and materials wherever possible.

RUBBER COMPOUND
For instance, a new scrub bucket, made of a rubber compound, hardly makes a sound. It can be set down on hard surfaces without making a clatter and it won't mar tiles, linoleum or wood floors. Of course, it is very light in weight and therefore easy to handle.

This heavy-duty bucket is handy for carrying clothes to the washing machine, to hold damp articles to be ironed or to tote freshly-laundered clothes to the line outdoors.

VARIETY OF COLORS
Furthermore, it comes in a variety of pretty, cheerful colors that won't be harmed by any of the standard household cleaning agents. Even weed preventative or fertilizer can be safely prepared in it. All that is necessary to keep it clean is to wash it thoroughly with hot suds and rinses after using chemicals.

Other good features are the embossed gauge on the inside, to measure quantities up to as much as 10 quarts, and the spouts for easy pouring. Built-in recesses on the bottom let the housewife get a firm grip on the bucket when it is tilted for emptying.

We mention all these specifications to indicate how much thought is being given to improving equipment used in the home, equipment that, until now, has shown little improvement through the years.

CUT TO SIZE
Another item which helps to reduce clatter in the home is the rubber cushioning for shelves that comes by the yard. Lightweight and washable, it can be cut with the scissors to fit any surface.

It can be used to good advantage in so many rooms.

In the kitchen, for instance, it makes a fine liner for shelves and cabinets. Think how much clatter can be eliminated when everything you set down rests quietly in place!

This padding is also a boon when used on worktops and it makes a neat floor-liner for broom closets.

FOR NURSERY FLOORS
Use it on the nursery floor to catch drips from baby's bathinette and in the dining room under baby's high chair to catch spilled liquids or foods.

Another good idea is to line a big box with this rubber cushioning and set it at the back door or basement entrance as a catch-all for wet rubbers, boots, umbrellas.

HOMEMADE WORK OF ART

Serve Delectable Danish Twist When Neighbors Drop in for Tea

Probably just about everyone has heard of a "Kaffe Klatsch." It's a German term which means "a ladies' coffee party." Literally translated it means "coffee gossip." The Kaffe Klatsch has become a popular custom in many Canadian suburbs. This recipe for Danish Twist which is native to Denmark gives a delectable tidbit to go along with the hospitality and cups of tea and coffee served when neighbors and friends drop in.

The pretzel-shaped twist with a crisp, interesting topping and filled with raisins is especially good served warm but it may also be served cold. If preferred, served with butter, this yeast-raised coffee cake is a homemade work of art that brings a sense of accomplishment and pride to its creator.

DANISH TWIST

Yield - 1 twist
1/2 cup lukewarm water

- 1 teaspoon granulated sugar
- 1 envelope active dry yeast
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/4 cup granulated sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 1 well-beaten egg
- 2 1/2 cups (about) once-alfed all-purpose flour
- 1 cup seedless raisins
- 1 well-beaten egg
- 1 Tbsp sugar

Measure lukewarm water into a large mixing bowl; stir in the 1/2 cup sugar. Sprinkle with yeast. Let stand 10 minutes, then stir well.

Meanwhile, scald milk; stir in the 1/4 cup sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Stir into dissolved yeast along with well-beaten egg and 1 1/4 cups of the flour; beat until smooth and elastic. Stir in raisins and sufficient additional flour to make a soft dough—about 1 cup more. Turn out on floured board or canvas and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl and knead until smooth. Form dough into a roll about 28 inches long. Twist the roll by turning ends in opposite directions. Carefully lift the roll onto greased cookie sheet and shape into a large "pretzel" by forming the roll into a crescent then drawing ends into the arch and tucking them under to keep dough from untwisting.

Brush with well-beaten egg and dust generously with icing sugar. Cover. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk—about 1 hour. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes.

Nobody Likes Them, But Everybody Pays

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — After 40 years of collecting personal income taxes, federal revenue men are still trying to find improved ways of doing the job.

The question "how effective is Canada's system of income tax collection" was put to a National Revenue Department official who has a sense of humor. His reply: "That question reminds me of an advertisement I saw once in a 1909 newspaper. It said 'Automobiles are as perfect as they'll ever be. You might as well buy one now.'"

Like the horseless carriage, federal income taxation has grown bigger and better each year since it was first imposed in 1917. This year it will touch the pocketbooks of about 4,300,000 Canadians.

Michael Clark, then Liberal member for Red Deer, Alta., probably didn't know how right he would be when he said as Parliament approved the levy for the first time 40 years ago: "I am certain . . . that this form of taxation has come to stay in the Dominion."

The pages of Hansard for that 1917 parliamentary session are spotted with appeals for increased federal revenues, through personal income taxes, to meet mounting war expenditures. Arguments in favor of income taxes then stressed that they were the fairest way to raise revenues by levy.

The only man who held out for a time against them was Sir Thomas White, then finance minister in the Conservative government. In his budget speech, April 24, 1917, he said "the maximum amount which would be obtained from such a tax in Canada would in terms of Dominion finance be comparatively small."

BIG INCREASE

Figures aren't available for that year, but he later estimated the amount would be between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000. In 1956-57, personal income taxes totalled roughly $1,400,000,000 or more than 27 per cent of total federal revenues of $5,170,000,000. They were the largest single item of federal revenue.

Of course, the tax rate 40 years ago was low—only four per cent of taxable income, plus a graduated "supertax" on incomes of more than $6,000 a year. On 1957 taxable personal income—returns for which are being filed now by taxpayers—the rate is 15 per cent of the first $1,000 and 15 per cent of the second $1,000 including the two per cent old age tax of up to $30 for every one.

Before the 1917 legislation was approved the question of exemptions for various causes took up most of the debate.

It's the same nowadays. Revenue officials say exemptions are constantly under study. Each one, they say, creates a collection problem, and as soon as a solution is found a new problem develops.

Typhoon Lashes Pacific Islands

GUAM (AP) Typhoon Ophelia continued today to lash away at islands in the western Pacific with 95-mile-an-hour winds.

Emergency funds and rations are being flown to the various stricken areas from the United States naval station at Kwajalein.

The typhoon passed through Ponape and Truk in the Marshalls at noon, leaving extensive damages and three injured. Jaluit Island was covered by three feet of water at the height of the typhoon and all buildings on the small island were destroyed.

Women Over 40 Are Poor Drivers

LONDON (AP) — Women over 40 make the worst drivers, the British Institute of Advanced Motorists reports.

It issued figures today compiled from more than 8,000 advanced tests in driving, and noted that women over 40 were the only group showing a minority of passes.

Figures were:
Men under 40: 62 per cent passed, 38 per cent failed;
Men over 40: 66 per cent passed, 34 per cent failed;
Women under 40: 59 per cent passed, 41 per cent failed;
Women over 40: 49 per cent passed, 51 per cent failed.

Scientists to Set Buildings on Fire

By JOHN F. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — National Research Council scientists are putting the torch this month to eight abandoned structures in the St.

Lawrence power project area to find out what happens after a fire starts in a house or building.

The experiments, the first conducted by the fire section of the NRC's division of building research, form part of a long-range attack on Canada's mounting toll of fire deaths and a steady increase in property damage.

In 1956, latest year for which figures are available, 628 Canadians died in 80,746 fires, compared to 574 the previous year. Property damage in 1956 rose to $106,772,153 from $102,767,776 in 1955.

The buildings to be burned are in an area to be flooded by the power project. The objective is to learn how fires burn and spread.

HOPE TO LEARN MUCH

The council hopes information from the tests will help develop construction techniques which will prevent rapid spreading of fires. It also hopes to gain information on better ways to fight fires, on types of interior finishes which should be avoided and the effects on humans of carbon monoxide gases.

"There is very little scientific information available on how fires burn in homes and buildings," said N. B. Hutcheon, assistant director of building research. "No one actually knows just what happens inside a house when it is burning."

Anti-Subversive Job Criticized

By WILLIAM FERRIS

NEW YORK (AP) — Business continued to take its "breathing spell" this week as it became evident the federal government was loosening its purse strings, particularly on defence.

While government action related more to Russia's scientific achievements than the American business recession, the economic effect is the same. It will mean more money pumped into the national economy.

One factor which contributed to the current capital goods recession was the cutback last summer in spending for defence, especially aircraft. It was undertaken because of the national debt limit.

Military payments to troops, contractors and civilian employees in December jumped to $40,000,000,000 annually, arresting a seven-month decline which had sent the annual rate under $37,000,000,000 in November.

Along the consumer front, department store sales in the latest reported week ran two per cent above a year ago. Food chains are enjoying excellent business and stocks of some chains are setting 1957-58 highs on the New York Stock Exchange. The same situation applies to tobacco companies.

U.S. to Fire Baby Moons

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — United States space vehicle testers, having launched two 5,000-mile missiles within four hours, turned their attention today to efforts to put two baby moons into the sky.

SATELLITES LIGHT

One of the satellites, designed as a civilian scientific project under the navy's management, will be an aluminum sphere only 6.4 inches in diameter and weighing about 3½ pounds. It will be launched by the three-stage, 72-foot-long Vanguard rocket.

The other will be a metal cylinder 80 inches long and six inches in diameter, weighing 29.7 pounds. It will be the final stage of the army's Jupiter-C missile.

Details of the satellite launch preparations today were secrets locked behind the high fence that cuts off the air force missile test centre here from the rest of the world.

But it was known that both missiles are here, in varying stages.

VANCOUVER (CP) — B.C. Telephone Co. will spend a record $50,000,000 on expansion and improvements this year. W. S. Pipes, vice-president and general manager, announced Friday.

of the complex program of assembly.

Both the navy and the army have announced their intention to launch the satellites as soon as possible. They have been ordered to do so in belated efforts to match in part the Soviet achievements with two Sputnik moons.

Persons close to the programs expect the Vanguard attempt to come possibly next week and that one the Jupiter-C a week or so later.

Do-It-Yourself Bookstand of Fir

A bookshelf that can be put together in an evening in your workshop is easily cut from fir plywood.

The stand shown here is designed to hold numerous books as well as for display of knick-knacks, floral arrangements and family photos.

Only basic carpenter tools are required to turn out an attractive bookstand that can be placed conveniently in the livingroom, den or rumpus room.

The stand has shelves four feet, three feet and two feet long which could be modified, within limits, to fit in a space available in the room.

The legs here are cut from 2x4 pieces, 12 inches in length, but equally efficient legs could be sawn from scrap bits of 1/2 inch fir plywood. All four upright pieces are 8x10 inches in size.

For best assembly, the parts should be glued and attached together with screws. The stand can be finished with paint to match or complement the room in which it is placed. Before final paint is applied it is generally good practice to give the unit a coat of shellac or interior undercoat.

One way to finish the bookshelf is with colorful stain rubbed down so that the grain of the plywood shows through. Edges of the fir plywood can be sanded smooth, filled with paste wood filler and sanded lightly again. When stain is applied and wiped-down, edges of the various layers take on different tones which provide the stand with decorative horizontal lines. A coat of wax gives the job a lustrous finish.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

WATER-STAINED WHITE SOFA

QUESTION: I have a white two-piece sectional sofa that has been water-stained. How can I remove this stain and what are the best cleaners for white fabrics?

ANSWER: I suggest you have a professional cleaner do the job. Cleaning agents are available now at housewares and hardware stores, made by reputable manufacturers, for cleaning upholstery. The one to use depends on the fabric, not the color. Follow label directions carefully.

PLASTIC COVERS

QUESTION: How can plastic furniture covers be cared for?

ANSWER: These should be dusted frequently. To wash, use a mild soap suds solution in a large basin. The bathtub is good for this, if no large wash tub is available.

CLEANING WINDOW SHADES

QUESTION: I have several window shades that are in good condition but look like they can't be cleaned?

ANSWER: Lay unrolled shade on flat surface and brush off dust. Then sponge with mild soap suds, rinsing well with clear water immediately. Allow to dry thoroughly. Repeat treatment on other side of shade.

PAINTING SHINGLES

QUESTION: My house is covered with shingles stained green. I am planning to paint them a barn red, using an aluminum undercoat. Will this make a good job?

ANSWER: Aluminum undercoat generally used for sealing a red stain to prevent "bleeding." If you use the aluminum as an undercoat be sure to use the kind for exterior work. This should make a good job.

WHITE SPOTS ON FIREPLACE QUESTION: We have a two-way fireplace of red brick. White spots appear on these bricks about six weeks after they are cleaned. Is there something to use on these bricks to keep the spots from reappearing? We have used a vinegar solution; also an acid solution, but neither has done the job successfully.

ANSWER: The cleaning probably allows enough moisture to penetrate into the brick and mortar to draw free lime to the surface. Upon evaporation of the moisture, lime remains on the surface, causing white spots. I suggest scrubbing white spots just with stiff brush on several "test" bricks. Then apply transparent liquid waterproofing, available at dealers in masonry supplies. If successful, apply treatment to rest of fireplace. If not, remember that all free lime will eventually work to the surface, and can be scrubbed off.

SEPARATED CORNERS

QUESTION: The corners of my new end tables have drawn mild soap suds solution in a large basin. The bathtub is good for this, if no large wash tub is available.

ANSWER: Remove old glue. Reglue and clamp together until glue is thoroughly dry; place pads of cardboard or heavy felt under the finish. If possible, on under side of table, through mitered corner, place corrugated metal fasteners available at all hardware stores. These will reinforce the glue job.

JACKIE PARKER
Staunch Ivy Man

Jackie Parker May Desert Esks for NFL

EDMONTON (CP)—Edmonton Eskimos, shocked at the unexpected resignation of coach Frank Ivy, are set for another blow. Jackie Parker may quit, too.

The announcement that Ivy is switching to Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League was followed Friday by halfback-quarterback Parker's confirmation that he, too, may go to the NFL—to New York Giants.

Parker, named Canada's outstanding football player for 1957, began last season with a special contract which makes him a free agent until Jan. 15. If he doesn't decide by then whether to join New York, he remains Edmonton property.

However, Parker, who came here from Mississippi State, indicated Friday he may accept the Giants' offer.

"The offer was a good one and I had pretty well made up my mind to refuse it and stay in Edmonton," he said. "I'm trying to make up my mind but certainly Ivy's departure reopens the NFL issue with me."

"I was a fairly staunch Ivy man, but I also know I would like it with the Giants. They've been after me ever since I turned pro with the Eskimos."

CAGE ACTION HERE TONIGHT

BUD CALLED SHOT

Ivy Rates High With Wilkinson

CHICAGO (AP)—It turned out that the winning United States college coach recommended the winning Canadian professional coach for the job of rebuilding victory-starved Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League.

The new Cardinal coach, 41-year-old Frank (Pop) Ivy, who directed Edmonton Eskimos to the Grey Cup crown three of the last four seasons, was highly backed by Bud Wilkinson, whose Oklahoma Sooners had a 47-game Ivy string snapped by Notre Dame this season.

Ivy, former Cardinal end and Oklahoma assistant under Wilkinson, was named coach of the struggling Cardinals Thursday night by managing director Walter Wolfner.

Wolfner, who had sought Wilkinson for the post, said Friday the great Sooners coach "told us that Ivy was the best assistant he ever had and that Frank knew more about football than he did."

BRILLIANT RECORD

In tackling the task of leading a club which has three victories and nine defeats last season, Ivy brings a record of 50 triumphs in 68 games during four seasons with Eskimos in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

At the suggestion the rugged NFL competition may be a different breed of cats than the wide open, 12-man Canadian game, Ivy replied:

"I know from experience this league plays a pretty wide open game, too. However, football is primarily a game of blocking and blocking is based on the details whether on the high school level or in the

Young Notches Hat Trick To Pace Packers' 4-2 Win

There are nights when Dave Gatherum, who had a brief fling in pro ranks, looks like a big-league goaltender.

Last night before 1,600 Pentticon fans, the Kelowna netminder came up with one of his better performances as the league-leading Packers hung a 4-2 defeat on the Vees in a listless Okanagan Senior Hockey League contest.

JAMES RETURNS TO PUCK WARS

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League announced Thursday that Gerry James, star of hockey and football, has agreed to a contract to report to their American League farm team at Rochester next Thursday.

Leaf coach Billy Reay said chief scout Bob Davidson phoned from Winnipeg to report James is satisfied with terms. James said he will ask officials of Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Union to see whether they will allow him to play hockey.

High School Cagers Take Three Losses

Kelowna Owls scored with only five seconds remaining to grab a 42-42 win from the Pen-Hi Lakers in a high school basketball game played in the Orchard city last night.

Delcourt led the Kelowna attack, canning 15 points on five field goals and five charity tosses. Upton contributed seven points to the Kelowna cause.

For the Lakers, Don Robb was the big gun, hitting for 12 points in five field goals and two free throws. Richard Skermer was close behind with 10 points. He hit four times from the floor and converted two from the free throw line.

Kelowna led 12-10 at the end of the first quarter, dropped behind 23-20 at the half and then rallied in the third quarter to lead 38-29. Pentticon had a 13-10 edge in the final quarter and surged ahead 42-41 in the dying seconds only to have Kelowna connect for the winning field goal.

In games played at Kere-meos, Pentticon senior boys team went down to a 61-14 defeat to Similkameen high school and Pentticon senior girls team dropped a 17-9 decision to Similkameen.

Pro Grid Clash

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Prestige and division pride go hand in hand Sunday when quarterbacks Eddie LeBaron of the East and V. A. Little of the West lead their teams into action in the annual Pro Bowl football game.

Gatherum's goaltending was the only bright spot. Play was slow and ragged throughout with neither team showing keen interest in victory. The tempo picked up slightly in the final frame, but only slightly.

Veteran forward Moe Young enjoyed a profitable evening, scoring three of the Packers' four goals. Joe Kaiser registered the fourth.

For the Vees, who outshot the Kelowna club 27-25, Walt Peacock and Hal Tarala were the marksmen.

Young wasted little time notching his first goal. After an abortive rush by the Vees from the opening face-off, he moved in behind centre Ray Powell as the Packers rolled across the Pentticon blueline. Powell was checked out of the play but Young swooped in to pick up the puck and rifle it past George Wood.

The goal stopped the second half of the clock at 14. Vees got that one back at 3:26, Walt Peacock slamming Bob Harper's passout past Gatherum to knot the count at 1-1.

Taking advantage of loose defensive play by the Vees, Joe Kaiser fired the prettiest goal of the night at 9:57 to send the Packers into a 2-1 lead.

He picked up a loose puck at centre ice, skated right in on Wood and, using a Pentticon defenceman as a shield, fired a rising drive to the top corner.

Neither team scored in the second period as Wood and Gatherum blocked breakaway bids by Mike Durban and Jack Taggart respectively.

In the final frame, Young converted a double relay from Powell and Swarbrick at 15:29 as the Vees once again failed to clear the puck from their own end.

Defenceman Hal Tarala put Pentticon back into contention two minutes later when he slapped the puck into the twine from a face-off in the Kelowna end.

With 35 seconds remaining, the Vees pulled George Wood in for an extra forward but the move backfired when Young broke away and skated in close before lifting the puck into the empty net.

The game was relatively clean, although a brief first-period flare-up saw six players in the penalty box at one time.

Lee Chips: Dave Wall, returning to the lineup after a prolonged absence due to a knee injury, showed he has lost none of his competitive spirit.

Kev Conway suffered a rib injury and will probably be sidelined for a few games. George Wood had little chance on the three goals that beat him.

Eddie Diachuk missed several golden scoring opportunities for the Vees. A Detroit scout watched the game but unless he is easily impressed, he wasn't.

LINEUPS
Kelowna — Goal: Gatherum; defence: Smith, Coburn, Lavell, McCallum; forwards: Powell, Young, Roche, Swarbrick, Durban, Kaiser, Middleton, Jones, Joubert.

Pentticon — Goal: Wood; defence: Tustin, Tarala, Taggart, Conway; forwards: Wakehinski, Diachuk, Peacock, Slater, Harper, Uendale, Lloyd, Wall.

RANGER GOALIE GETS ULTIMATUM

Paille's Position Precarious

By RON ANDREWS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Who is the New York Ranger goaltender? This might be the big question around the National Hockey League early next week.

At the moment rookie Pairelli is the man with the job but he won't be in the same position after this weekend if he doesn't improve. At least that's what coach Phil Watson says.

Watson isn't happy with his team's performance of late and, although he doesn't blame Pairelli entirely for the slump, he is willing to summon Lorne Worsley back to New York if Pairelli doesn't make a better impression tonight when Rangers meet the league-leading Canadiens at Montreal and Sunday at Detroit when Red Wings entertain the Bluebirds.

Worsley was the regular 26 shots past Paille in Rangers last five games. Watson isn't a coach to stand pat under those conditions.

"Paille's safe for the next two games," the coach says. "If he hasn't snapped out of it by that time, I'll bring back Worsley."

But Watson still considers Paille a potential NHL goaltender.

"He has the stuff to become a good big-league goalie. His confidence may be shaky right now, but I'm not going to give up on him even if we have to call Worsley back."

Watson thinks that maybe the 25-year-old native of Shawinigan, Paille, Que., has been under pressure in recent games because the team hasn't been scoring goals.

Meanwhile, the other team are concerned about injuries and Edmonton Flyers improved their second-place position in the Western Hockey League's Prairie division Friday night, at the same time ruining Seattle's chance of moving closer to the runner-up spot in the Coast division. Seattle made it close, however, losing to the Flyers 3-2 in overtime at Edmonton.

Calgary 13 21 2 101 120 28

Vancouver Canucks continued their winning ways with a convincing 4-1 win in the mainland city over cellar-dwelling Victoria Cougars in Coast division play.

Before Edmonton's largest crowd of the season, 6,096, the Flyers took a 1-0 first-period lead but dropped behind 2-1 at the end of the second.

Len Lundie tied the score with the only tally of the third session. Winger Chuck Holmes scored the winner in the extra period with a dribbler that fooled Hank Bassen in the Seattle net. The other Flyer scorer was Jerry Melnyk.

For the Americans they were Gord Sinclair and Rudy Fillion. In six points of Winnipeg and the Prairie division leadership, Seattle remained in third place on the coast, four points behind second-place New Westminster.

The Canucks went seven points ahead of New Westminster with their win over Victoria.

Elliot Chorley, Orland Kurtenbach, Red Johansen and Bob Robinson scored for the Canucks. Bud Syverson scored for the visitors.

Busiest player was Victoria goalie Emile Francis, who faced

47 shots in the fast, clean game.

DOROHY HARD-WORKED
Eddie Dorohoy, on his skates longer than any other player in the game, turned in one of the better performances.

The game saw Rags Raglan donning a Cougars uniform for the first time since his transfer from Saskatoon-St. Paul Regals.

The best goal of the night was scored by Chorley, a former Brandon star, who opened the scoring in the second period.

Tonight, Winnipeg travels to Saskatoon, Seattle is at Calgary and New Westminster is at Victoria.

This is less than a week before Ploen had planned to re-enter Iowa to complete work on his degree.

Pro Teams Grab College Stars

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—At least half of the 50 leading college football players in today's Senior Bowl game already have signed professional contracts.

A check of the 30 picked in the pro draft showed 25 have been signed by National Football League teams. Pro sources said several of the other five who were non-committal probably also have signed, with announcements to be made later.

South coach Paul Brown's Cleveland Browns and the Green Bay Packers led with five each.

BLOCK OF GOLD
How much gold is there in the world? Probably there is more today than at any previous time in the world's history. Yet the Book of Knowledge quotes the estimate of a well-known economist that "a modern liner could carry in her hold all the gold dredged and mined in seven thousand years". It seems that the world's present stock would make a cube about 36 feet square, about the size of a large house.

Five Killed in Highway Crash

DRUMMOND, Mont. (AP)—Three young men and two young women were killed Friday night in the collision of a car and a panel truck just east of Drummond on U.S. highway 10. All were in the car.

Dead are: Ralph Benner, about 18, Ronan, Mont.; Yvonne Knutson, about 22, Centerville, S.D.; Janice Schoen, about 22, Hardin, Mont.; Jerry L. Edwards, 24, Glasgow, Mont.; and Theodore Gale Norman, 20, St. Ignatus, Mont.

Such files are not used for anti-labor purposes and that there are not dossiers on all MPs.

Referring to criticisms, the minister said Canada has to exchange information with other countries. It was the only way of knowing about persons who might be unsuitable to enter the country.

Shapely Jane Gets Licence

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jayne Mansfield and Mickey Hargitay made their way through a waiting crowd of about 150 Friday and got a marriage licence.

There were about 25 photographers and 125 fans on hand when the shapely actress and her husky groom-to-be arrived at the licence bureau. They plan to be married Monday night.

On her application Miss Mansfield stated that she is 24, was born Jayne Palmer in Bryn Mawr, Pa., and has been once divorced (from Paul J. Mansfield, Dallas, Tex., public relations man). Mickey gave his legal name as Mikles Hargitay, his birthplace as Hungary and his age as 29. He also is once-divorced.

Leaders of the new federation of British Caribbean islands have their eye on the U.S. naval base at Chaguaramas, a 12,000-acre tract near here. They want its buildings, streets and installations as ready-made capital facilities, saving both money and space in crowded Port of Spain.

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Davie Fulton says the Dossier—collecting activities of the RCMP's anti-subversive branch

Friday that public and individual interests must be safeguarded by secrecy so that the information "is never put to an improper purpose."

Mr. Fulton was replying to a series of criticisms by CCF members of the handling by the anti-subversive branch of its files on individuals.

Arnold Peters (CCF-Timiskaming), who said that as a university student he once was shown an RCMP file on himself, asked whether such files are kept for anti-labor purposes.

He said his own file dealt with such things as a petition to the Commons he had been connected with. Copies of the file were kept at least two United States border crossing points. He had seen them referred to when he visited the U.S.

RCMP files which did not deal with criminal activities should be cleared out and not "maintained more or less in case somebody may need them some day."

Mr. Fulton, who was dealing with his departmental spending estimates, said he is sure that are valuable and important.

FACTS OF LIFE
WHICH IS CORRECT, "BURNSIDES" OR "SIDEBURNS"?

THE ORIGINAL AND CORRECT FORM IS BURNSIDES. IT CAME FROM THE NAME OF ABRAHAM E. BURNSIDE, A FEDERAL GENERAL OF THE CIVIL WAR.

IT IS ALSO a fact, believe it or not, that we have an old 5 room house on an excellent half-acre view lot with fruit trees on good paved road, that can be made into a real nice home for only $3500.00. Carpenters or Handymen, here's your opportunity.

DO MARKINGS MAKE HOLSTEIN?

Identifying marks of the purebred Holstein have been white stockings but the Holstein Friesian Association of Canada is considering altering the registration so that black marks on the legs above the hooves will not disqualify all animals. Some members of the association feel that milk production and quality should be the only deciding factor and the black markings will be a major subject for discussion at the association's convention in Toronto next month. This animal is Luke Jonkers of the J. M. Fraser farm of Streetsville and she is being examined by John Bradshaw.

Pearson to Restore Normal Opposition

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—Lester B. Pearson says that if he takes over as new leader of the Liberal party his immediate concern will be to get the party back to a "normal opposition" in the House of Commons.

However, the former career diplomat who stepped into the political arena as external affairs minister nine years ago and wound up with the 1957 Nobel Peace Prize, sidestepped a question as to whether this meant he would seek an early general election.

The actual tactics of the party, he said in an interview, "will be decided by the leader in caucus." In other words, he would thrash the matter out with his Commons colleagues.

It is understood that the party's refusal to vote against the government has caused some restiveness among rank-and-file Liberals.

However, "in addition to giving the government a chance to its mettle, it has held off possible election until the Liberals could pick a new leader."

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Davie Fulton says the Dossier—collecting activities of the RCMP's anti-subversive branch

Friday that public and individual interests must be safeguarded by secrecy so that the information "is never put to an improper purpose."

Mr. Fulton was replying to a series of criticisms by CCF members of the handling by the anti-subversive branch of its files on individuals.

Arnold Peters (CCF-Timiskaming), who said that as a university student he once was shown an RCMP file on himself, asked whether such files are kept for anti-labor purposes.

He said his own file dealt with such things as a petition to the Commons he had been connected with. Copies of the file were kept at least two United States border crossing points. He had seen them referred to when he visited the U.S.

RCMP files which did not deal with criminal activities should be cleared out and not "maintained more or less in case somebody may need them some day."

Mr. Fulton, who was dealing with his departmental spending estimates, said he is sure that are valuable and important.

Opening lead—six of hearts.
West was in an awkward position to choose an opening lead, all four suits having been bid, and decided to lead a heart. East won with the ace and returned a heart.

Declarer took the king, and with nine sure tricks in sight, led the ace of diamonds, then the jack, which held, and finally another diamond.

South could not be prevented from getting to dummy with a spade, and wound up with a spade, two hearts, four diamonds, and two clubs.

A spade lead originally by West would have defeated the contract, but there is doubt that West can be faulted for having failed to find the killing lead. He had a difficult choice to make.

There is no doubt, however, that East's defense was inadequate. After winning the ace of hearts he should have returned the jack of spades.

There is quite a difference between choosing a blind opening lead, before seeing the dummy, and choosing the subsequent defense, after dummy's hand is seen.

There are two reasons why the spade should be returned and not the heart. First, it is an attacking lead designed to promote tricks for the defense if, by any chance, West obtains the lead again.

Second, and far more important, is the fact that it attacks dummy's entry. The long diamond suit, from East's viewpoint, is very threatening. Obviously, on the bidding, declarer will be able to establish dummy's diamonds very quickly.

The only entry to the diamonds, after they are established, is in plain sight—the K-Q of spades. That entry must be destroyed at once. Hence, the jack of spades lead.

Declarer cannot recover from this stroke. He can huff and puff but he can't blow the house down. He can win the spade and lead diamond honors from dummy, trapping the king, but East need only be careful not to cover with the king.

Without the diamond suit South West can be faulted for having failed to find the killing lead. He had a difficult choice to make.

On Monday: Another Famous Hand is presented by Mr. Becker.

BEHIND THE SCREEN

Real Family Scene In Lewis Movie

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Three generations of Lewises are working on Jerry's latest movie, but one is due for retirement.

It was a real family scene on the set of Rock-A-Baby at Paramount. Frank Tashlin was directing a shot in which young Gary Lewis sings a song and dances over a hillside of spring flowers.

But Frank had some help on the sidelines. Also aiding in the direction was the producer of the picture, Jerry Lewis, who finds time to act in it, too. Then there was his lovely wife, Patty, who brought along another son, Ronnie. Completing the family picture was Gary's grandfather, youthful-looking vaudeville veteran Danny Lewis, who also has a part in the movie.

The family group gathered in the Paramount commissary for lunch and discussed 12-year-old Gary's budding career, which is about to be nipped.

EDUCATION FIRST
"This kid has only about 200 tons of talent," said proud papa Jerry. "It's just too bad it's going to be hidden until he grows up."

How's that?
"This will be Gary's farewell appearance until he graduates from college," Jerry said. "I've got to see how he felt about it." "I don't want to change his mind," the junior h.

boy said, out of his father's hearing.

He'll have some powerful campaigning to do, because Jerry seems pretty firm in his decision.

"I hate child actors," he said. "I mean the professional kind of child actor. The youngsters who are great as actors and who are really liked are the ones who do things naturally, who act without being actors. Gary is like that."

"But the trouble with most child actors is that they are pushed into acting by an ambitious parent. The kids become phony; they're subjected to all kinds of attention which they shouldn't have at their age. And they usually end up unhappy in their later lives."

"Gary doesn't have to act. He's going to have the advantage of the education I didn't have. I had to quit in the second grade of high school, not because I needed the money but because I couldn't be happy unless I was in show business."

"I've lived to regret it. I've had to adjust to situations I could have coped with more easily if I had gone on in school."

So far Gary has appeared three times with his pa. He did the Sunny Boy routine on Jerry's television show and appeared for a week when the comic played Detroit. "The kid got the biggest hand I've ever heard," said Jerry.

Your Horoscope

THE STARS SAY — By ESTRELLITA

FOR TOMORROW

Avoid becoming involved in any activity which is unprofitable either socially or financially on Sunday. Arrange to do something pleasant to strengthen the bonds of affection between loved ones.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that you have real cause for optimism. The period between now and mid-April will be excellent for formulating long-range plans and stabilizing your financial situation. Avoid speculation during this period, however. To be successful, projects involving money must be sound ones. From May through September the aspects will promote incentive for job advancement, career matters generally. Ambitions should be lofty then, and you can take the initiative in most matters. But don't force issues. Constructive efforts will be recognized, but do nothing to alienate good will. Don't forget Capricorn's inborn sense of true values. Travel will be under good influence in July and August, and good financial breaks, even small ones, between September and December, should make you very happy.

A child born on this day will be endowed with an exacting nature and perseverance required to reach his goals.

THE DAY AFTER TOMORROW

Be enthusiastic and ambitious on Monday but, if taking on unfamiliar work, be careful lest you make needless errors. It is better to understand your own limitations and succeed than to over-reach and fail.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If Monday is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that your ability to size up situations quickly and adapt yourself to them will stand you in good stead this year. It should be a year of great accomplishment, but you'll have to work things out on a realistic and far-seeing basis. And to do this, you will have fine planetary help. The next three months will be ideal for making plans of long-term value—both from job and financial standpoints. This is where your innate practicality should come into play.

The months between May and September should be scheduled for ACTION. This will be the time to emphasize your skills and talents, to set new goals for yourself, to use all of your initiative and take steps to attract those who can help to further your aims. All of this can be done if you work judiciously. Granting that you do, rewards should be forthcoming between October and December.

A child born on this day will be studious, competent and highly trustworthy.
